ANC Professor Presents at ICOFOM Symposium

Dr. Jillian Hartley, Professor of History, presented a paper at the ICOFOM International Committee for Museology's online symposium, Defining The Museum of the 21st Century: Evolving Multiculturalism in Museums in the United States on September 14. Hosted by Southern New Hampshire University, the purpose of the symposium was to assist in the creation of a definition for museums in the United States.

Hartley's contribution, "Commemorating the Civil War in Border States: The Case of John Hunt Morgan," examines how the removal of commemorative markers and efforts to interpret them for the public has the potential to enhance the educational aspects of ICOM's definition in regard to the U.S. experiential perspective of museums and heritage in the twenty-first century. Hartley says, "It was an honor and privilege to participate in this important effort with distinguished members of the heritage and museum community from this country and around the world."

ANC Friends Lend a Helping Hand

ANC would like to thank some of our amazing community partners for helping us move jet engines from our former facility to the new Center for Allied Technologies on Friday, September 14.

We received help from Nucor Steel Arkansas and their employees Corey Morrow and Kevin Weldon. ANC also had help from Phoenix Services employees Chris Teeter, Ronnie Sanders, and John Sellers. Brandon Stracener of Stracener Brothers Construction assisted in the move as well. ANC would also like to thank Blytheville Police Department's Chief Ross Thompson and ANC Criminal Justice instructor Tim Bentley for providing a police escort for the Taylor Lift through town.

We have great community partners. Thank you all for your time and effort!
